PREMIUM AMERICAN WAGYU, THOUGHTFULLY CRAFTED

Kangen Wagyu™ is premium American Wagyu raised at Masami Ranch in California. It is produced by crossing 100 percent fullblood Japanese Kuroge Washu with tender and juicy American Black Angus.

This pairing creates a refined balance of marbling, texture, and buttery flavor. The result is Wagyu designed for full enjoyment, repeat dining, and a premium experience that feels elevated without being excessive.

Kangen Wagyu™ reflects Enagic's philosophy of quality, care, and long-term value, applied beyond technology and into food.

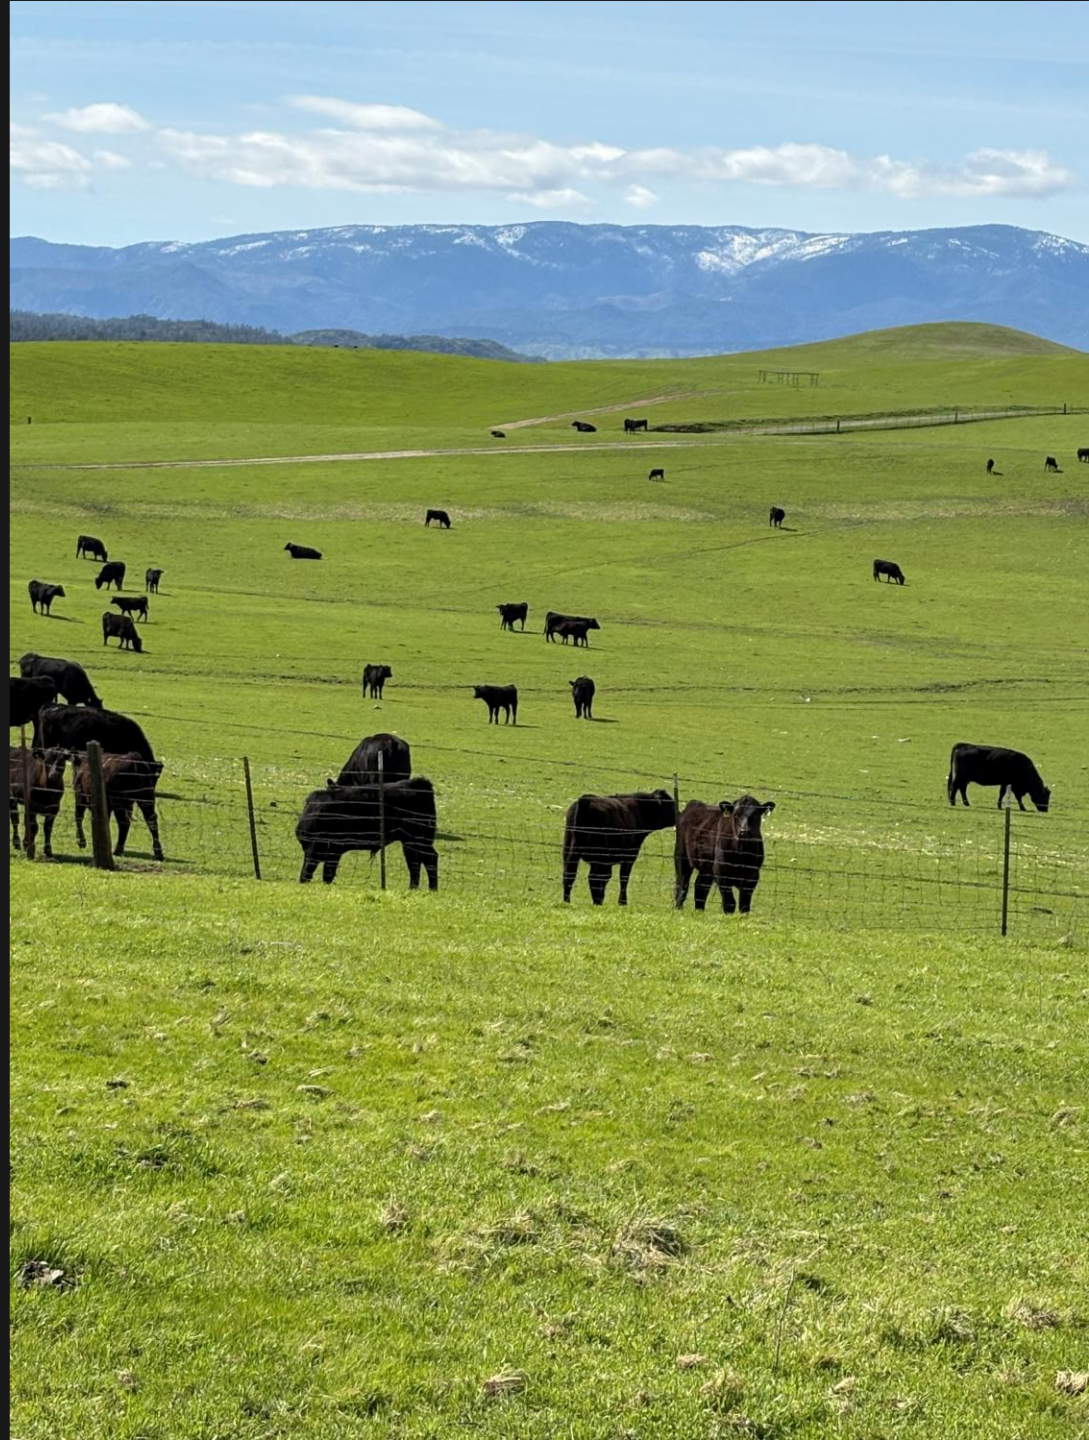

CARE, PURITY, AND CONSISTENCY

Kangen Wagyu™ cattle are pasture raised in an open, natural environment and fed a vegetarian diet that is grass-fed and grain-finished.

They are raised without antibiotics, hormones, growth promotants, or animal byproducts. Daily ranch practices, including hydration and care, follow Enagic quality standards and incorporate Kangen Water® as part of the overall approach.

This integrated method supports consistency, cleanliness, and a balanced final product.

WHY BALANCE MATTERS

Wagyu grading systems vary between Japan and the United States and often emphasize marbling levels. While marbling plays an important role, extreme fat content is not always the most enjoyable eating experience.

Kangen Wagyu™ is crafted with a focus on balance, consistency, and overall flavor. The goal is beef that delivers richness without heaviness and tenderness without excess.

This approach makes Kangen Wagyu™ suitable for full meals and repeat enjoyment across steaks, burgers, sausages, and shared dining experiences.
